EXPERIENCE

EMERGING FILMMAKER FELLOW

In Spring 2019, I was awarded the inaugural Marquette University - No Studios Emerging Filmmaker Fellowship. The program provides a year of free production gear, studio and editing spaces, and mentorship for two local filmmakers working on a film project. I was awarded the Milwaukee-based social justice documentary fellowship.

- Produce a fine cut feature-length documentary or web-based documentary series by Spring 2020.
- Participate in No Studios and Marquette University programming as attendee or speaker.
- Give two public talks about their project at Marquette University.
- Interact with Marquette students and offer production-oriented internships to students.
- Report on progress of final project to No Studios and Marquette University on a regular basis and host work-in-progress screening.

MULTIMEDIA PRODUCER

Community Stories (CS) aims to tell personal narratives and feature stories about the people and organizations making Milwaukee great. I am responsible for pitching and producing original, two-to-three minute audio and video stories for the on-air CS segment and our social media platforms.

- Pitch two original multimedia stories a week and produce stories from pre- to post-production.
- Serve as one of three members of a team producing two long form multimedia series a year under the umbrella "88NINE PRESENTS," while simultaneously producing weekly CS content.
- Skills acquired through this position include audio and video production; research, writing, editing, and interview; time and project management, especially under tight deadlines; ability to balance several projects at once; social media management, and experience creating digital marketing content.

VIDEO INTERN / PROGRAM PHOTOGRAPHER

My work with Radio Milwaukee began when I was selected as the video intern fall of 2016. After returning for the spring semester, I began to be contracted as the Programming Photographer. When I entered my senior year of college, I began my career with Radio Milwaukee as the Multimedia Producer (see above position).

- As an intern, I assisted in all aspects of production for 88Nine Presents: National & North and At the Threshold, two Milwaukee Press Club award-winning "Multiplatform Reporting" series.
- Photograph live musical performances and events in the 88Nine space and off-site locations to be used for online and for marketing materials. Also responsible for edits and uploading.
